DEATH

W. A. MOSES

William Alexander Moses, retired Civil Engineer, died Friday evening following a prolonged illness.

He was born in Appomattox County, October, 17, 1868 son of the late Charles Thomas and Mary Woodson Moses. When a young man he was in the mercantile business. He first clerked in the store of J.R. Atwood and in 1899 went in business for himself. He served as a Justice of the Peace for Appomattox County. After successfully taking a correspondence course from the University of Virginia, he became a certified surveyor in Appomattox County in 1906, which profession he followed until he retired in 1954.

He married Miss Carrie Harris Smith on April, 11, 1895. Mrs. Moses died January, 3, 1951.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Allison T. Inge; three grandchildren, Don Moses Jr., of Baltimore; William T. Moses of Roanoke and Mr. Tommie C. Harvey Jr., of Appomattox; six great grandchildren; one brother, Len M. Moses of Appomattox one nephew, State Senator Charles T. Moses; three nieces, Mrs. Nettie M. Dresser, and Misses Lula and Clara Moses all of Appomattox.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Robinson's Funeral Home by Rev. James T. Chavens, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church. Pall bearers were C. T. Moses Jr., Reggie W. Stanley, C. S. Ranson, William T. Moses, T. C. Harvey Jr. and C. T. Moses.

MR. B. J. PARRIS

Funeral services for Benjamin Josiah Parris, 68, who died on Friday Sep. 16, were conducted Sunday, from the Robinson Funeral Home, by the Rev. James T. Chavens.

Burial was in Liberty Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Watkins M. Abbitt, Charles T. Moses Sr., R. W. Stanley, Maynard Gilbert, H. B. Crawley, and Joe Guff.

LARRY TORRENCE WINS IN NATIONAL WELDING CONTEST

Larry Torrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Torrene of Rout 2, has received an award in a national welding contest. Larry won a sixth place award in the annual welding competition for vocational agricultural students sponsored by the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation, Cleveland, Ohio. One hundred and seven boys from 22 states shared cash awards in this contest. Larry was the only winner from the state of Virginia.

Larry won his award for his entry of a rear mounted terracing blade which he constructed in his vocational agriculture shop work last year in high school. The Lincoln Foundation annually awards a total of $7000 to students and high schools for shop projects involving welding. Awards are made on the basis of usefulness and quality of the project and how well and completely it is described.

Larry is currently a senior at Appomattox High School, and is president of the Robert E. Lee Chapter of Future Farmers of America. Two other entries from the Appomattox Chapter received honorable mention in the contest. These were: an air compressor constructed by Richard Harris, and a four-wheel wagon constructed by Winifred Nash.

Judges for the national contest, 1960, included Mr. Henry S. Pack, local vocational agriculture instructor; Dr. E. E. Drese, of Ohio State University; Professor Irvin C. Cross, Colorado State University, and Mr. F. N. Flowers, Kilbourne, Louisiana High School.

COMMENTS ON SPORTS

By Pete Fritchie

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The 1960 collegiate football season is here, officially, and this year should witness a wider, more varied offense than has been seen on college stefields in years.

With substitutions liberalized, there will be the beginning of what is probably an Inevitable return to the platoon system. Since the coaches can now substitute between the plays, a steady stream of players will be coming and going — and the coach will be calling the shots, or more of them.

But the most revolutionary idea about football is the proposal to turn the game into a Spring and Fall sport. There are those who think that spring practice should be another season. They want to play ten games in the Fall and eight in the Spring.

They argue that football stadiums are expensive — as is football — and that the stadiums lie idle most of the year. And since the boys practice twenty or thirty days in the Spring, they might as well play six or eight games.

Financially this would help, of course, but the real point is that football is not supposed to be tied to the profit motive.

There's another interesting proposal — for a footbal world series, so to speak. This would involve college teams only, and would be prearranged as an annual affair.

This would also be profitable and would come closer to deciding the college football championship on a national scale. But do th colleges want to carry the competition this far? It's doubtful.

In time we may see college football played in the Spring, and we might see a world series, so to speak. As for us, the alumni, the adults who use football for self-indulgence and pleasure, they naturally would go for such sports attractions.

But colleges are primarily centers of learning, and many think football is already stressed too much. The players are distracted from their studies enough now. It's highly questionable whether college presidents and boards will go along the road to professionalization any further.

Chocolate Mint Sherbet

Cater to the golden moments of the summer social season with simple sherbet and cookie refreshments. Here's a menu formula which will refresh the hostess as well as her guest. For shower or club entertaining, make and bake a simple cookie a day or two in advance of the party. Make the frosting on party day, so cookies have the freshly baked look. Plan to serve chocolate mint sherbet, made the simple nonfat dry milk way. Make the sherbet a day in advance of party time. This recipe makes a pint and a half ... twice the recipe will reward you with a quart and a half of easily made refreshing Chocolate Mint Sherbet—economical and good tasting when made with nonfat dry milk.

Chocolate Mint Sherbet
(Makes 1½ pints)

1 (10-oz.) package chocolate covered mints
1 quart Imagined Super Starlac nonfat dry milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites

Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Place mints in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water until mints are melted, stirring occasionally stir in liquid Super Starlac; blend well. Remove from heat. Cool. Stir in vanilla. Four mixture into refrigerator trays. Freeze until firm. Remove from trays to a chilled bowl. Break up with fork or spoon. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth but not melted. Beat egg whites in bulk until stiff, but not dry. Fold egg whites into the milk mixture. Return to trays. Freeze until firm, about 2 to 3 hours.
